ABSTRACT

An apparatus, method and system for accelerated graphics port bus bridges. At least some of the illustrative embodiments are computer systems comprising a central processing unit, core logic connected to the central processing unit, system random access memory connected to the core logic, a first AGP bus connected to the core logic, and an AGP to AGP bridge connecting at least two AGP-compatible devices to the computer system via the first AGP bus.